Ebert Ranch Camp Health Care, Procedures & Safety Regulations

Please share this information with your group. You will also have a safety orientation upon arrival. If you have any questions, please contact us at 830-257-6340.

HEALTH CARE:

Ebert Ranch Camp does not have a nurse on duty during retreat season. Retreat groups are responsible for first aid and emergency care. Camp staff is available to assist with first aid needs. Each group should designate one adult as the primary health care provider. Ebert Ranch Camp highly advises that this adult be currently certified in age appropriate CPR/AED and first aid from a nationally recognized provider.

If the designated health care provider determines further care is needed, the group is responsible to transport for the nearest hospital OR 911 can be called for ambulance services. Camp staff do not transport guests.

Retreat groups are responsible for bringing and administering any first aid supplies/equipment and medications (including over the counter and prescribed) as well as determining availability and storage of these items. Ebert Ranch Camp advises that all medications should be locked and stored in a designated area with limited access.

It is highly recommended that groups have all participants fill out a health history form and bring it with them to camp. Health histories should include the names and address of each participant, emergency contact names and numbers, known allergies or health conditions requiring treatment, dietary issues, restrictions or other accommodations necessary while at camp. For minors without a parent on site, include permissions for the group leader, designated health care provider, or another adult to seek emergency treatment or a signed religious waiver. Sample health history forms may be obtained from the camp office.

The group is required to report any accidents, incidents, injuries or illnesses to camp staff that took participant(s) out of regularly scheduled group activities. We advise retreat groups to document smaller first aid responses.
